

A Union Beats a Fence

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Harold Meyerson

Source The Washington Post

Date June 20, 2007

URL <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2007/06/19/AR2007061901738.html>

Quote

“ "The goal of the Employee Free Choice Act is simply to give workers the right to join unions without facing the (currently) one-in-five chance of being fired for playing an active role in a campaign to do so. Firing employees for endeavoring to form unions has been illegal since 1935 under the National Labor Relations Act, but beginning in the 1970s, employers have preferred to violate the law -- the penalties are negligible -- rather than have their workers unionize." ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should be passed on the topic Employee Free Choice Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=A_Union_Beats_a_Fence&oldid=6395"

This page was last edited on August 16, 2007, at 04:08.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.