

An evasive high court nominee inches toward Senate confirmation

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) San Francisco Chronicle editorial board

Source San Francisco Chronicle

Date October 23, 2020

URL <https://www.sfchronicle.com/opinion/editorials/article/Editorial-An-evasive-high-court-nominee-inches-15668152.php>

Quote

“ Asked about Trump's refusal to commit to leaving office should he lose, she responded, "To the extent that this is a political controversy right now, as a judge, I want to stay out of it and I don't want to express a view." Sorry, judge, it's exactly your duty to have an opinion on such an extreme and reckless thought. Vacuous caution has no place in answering such a basic question. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Barrett should be confirmed on the topic Amy Coney Barrett Supreme Court nomination.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=An_evasive_high_court_nominee_inches_toward_Senate_confirmation&oldid=32092"

This page was last edited on October 26, 2020, at 23:46.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.