

Baker's Sellout Plan

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Dick Morris, Eileen McGann

Source New York Post

Date November 29, 2006

URL http://www.nypost.com/seven/11292006/postopinion/opedcolumnists/bakers_sellout_plan_opedcolumnists_dick_morris__eileen_mcgann.htm

Quote

“Of course, Baker may seek and Iran may offer public assurances that it won't develop nuclear weapons - the same worthless assurances it now passes out to the entire world. What will have changed is that America and Britain will be so engaged with Iran that they can't and won't bomb or even impose tough sanctions. In short, we can only get Iran's help on Iraq if we let Tehran get the bomb.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States should negotiate with Iran on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Baker%27s_Sellout_Plan&oldid=9273"

This page was last edited on March 30, 2009, at 12:21.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.