Barack Obama for president

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial board
Source	St. Louis Post-Dispatch
Date	October 10, 2008
URL	http://www.stltoday.com/blogzone/the-platform/campaign-2008/2008/10/sunday-editorial-barack-obama-for-presider	t/
Quote	"A presidency is defined less by what happens in the Oval Office than by what is done by the more than 3,000 men and women the president appoints to government office. Only 600 of them are subject to Senate approval. The rest serve at the pleasure of the president. We have little doubt that Mr. Obama's appointees would bring a level of competence, compassion and intellectual achievement to the executive branch that hasn't been seen since the New Frontier. He has energized a new generation of Americans who would put the concept of service back in "public service."

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Obama should be elected on the topic United States presidential election, 2008.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Barack_Obama_for_president&oldid=8189"

This page was last edited on October 13, 2008, at 23:29.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.