

Congress finally gets on free trade track

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) San Antonio Express-News editorial board

Source San Antonio Express-News

Date November 14, 2007

URL <http://www.mysanantonio.com/opinion/editorials/stories/MYSA111507.01O.peruFTA1ed.19117ac.html>

Quote

“ As a political issue, free trade often suffers its share of partisan and industry-specific bashing. As an economic issue, no other force is more responsible for raising global prosperity in recent decades than the elimination of protective barriers and the creation of a more efficient system of trade. And few countries have benefited more than the United States.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Peru-United States Free Trade Agreement.

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Colombia-United States Free Trade Agreement.

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic U.S.-Korea Free Trade Agreement.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Congress_finally_gets_on_free_trade_track&oldid=6774"

This page was last edited on November 16, 2007, at 04:40.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.