

Crush the Sunnis

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) James Kurth

Source The New Republic

Date November 25, 2006

URL <http://www.tnr.com/doc.mhtml?i=20061127&s=kurth112706>

Quote

“ Before it leaves Iraq, then, the United States must inflict a dramatic and decisive defeat upon the Sunni insurgents--one that will demonstrate the unbearable cost and utter futility of the Islamist dream of establishing a Muslim umma under the rule of a global Sunni caliphate. That defeat must be more than military; it must also be political: The United States should divide Iraq into two parts, leaving the Kurds in control of the north, the Shia in control of the south--and the Sunnis stateless in between.”

The following other items refer to this item: A realistic plan: Split the country in two

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Iraq should be split up on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Crush_the_Sunnis&oldid=4326"

This page was last edited on December 27, 2006, at 17:39.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.