

Dump the electoral college

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Jonathan Chait

Source Los Angeles Times

Date October 15, 2006

URL <http://www.latimes.com/news/opinion/la-oe-chait15oct15,0,2184539.column>

Quote

“ "Anyway, our current system encourages candidates to devote almost all of their time and resources to a handful of swing states. As it stands now, presidential candidates ignore L.A., New York and the majority of the country. During the last election, George W. Bush and John Kerry spent 40% of their money in Ohio and Florida. If your goal was to encourage candidates to spread themselves out, you almost couldn't design a worse system than the one we have now." ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item refers to the previous opinion item From Schwarzenegger, a Veto for Voters' Good.

This item argues for the position Compact should be passed on the topic National Popular Vote Interstate Compact.