

For the Love of Carbon

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Paul Krugman

Source The New York Times

Date January 11, 2015

URL <http://www.nytimes.com/2015/01/12/opinion/paul-krugman-for-the-love-of-carbon.html>

Quote

“ So what should be done about Keystone XL? If you believe that it would be environmentally damaging — which I do — then you should be against it, and you should ignore the claims about job creation. The numbers being thrown around are tiny compared with the country’s overall work force. And in any case, the jobs argument for the pipeline is basically a sick joke coming from people who have done all they can to destroy American jobs — and are now employing the very arguments they used to ridicule government job programs to justify a big giveaway to their friends in the fossil fuel industry. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Pipeline should be built on the topic Keystone XL pipeline.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=For_the_Love_of_Carbon&oldid=27923"

This page was last edited on March 2, 2015, at 20:58.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.