

Get ready to live with nuclear Iran

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) H.D.S. Greenway

Source The Boston Globe

Date April 21, 2010

URL http://www.boston.com/bostonglobe/editorial_opinion/oped/articles/2010/04/21/get_ready_to_live_with_nuclear_iran/

Quote

“ Most experts agree that attacking Iran would, at most, delay an Iranian bomb by only a few years. And if there is one thing that would unite all Iranians, that would be it. There's a chance now of political change in Iran in the coming years. There would be no such chance if Iran were attacked. An attack would consolidate the regime and provoke an even fiercer determination to build a bomb.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Iran should be allowed to have nuclear weapons on the topic Iranian nuclear crisis.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Get_ready_to_live_with_nuclear_Iran&oldid=11755"

This page was last edited on April 21, 2010, at 20:45.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.