

Good for crooks, bad for human rights

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Daniel Hannan

Source The Daily Telegraph

Date November 16, 2006

URL <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/opinion/main.jhtml?xml=/opinion/2006/11/16/do1602.xml>

Quote

“ "The Human Rights Act is becoming the first refuge of the scoundrel. It is snatched at by illegal immigrants wishing to avoid repatriation, and by prisoners who want to receive pornography in their cells (on grounds of "freedom of expression"). It is invoked against stop-and-search powers, school uniform policies and "wanted" posters." ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should be repealed on the topic Human Rights Act 1998.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Good_for_crooks,_bad_for_human_rights&oldid=3884"

This page was last edited on November 16, 2006, at 18:22.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.