

Hard Lesson for Israel

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Jackson Diehl

Source The Washington Post

Date January 9, 2009

URL <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2009/01/08/AR2009010803203.html>

Quote

“ Unlike al-Qaeda, Hamas is not merely a terrorist organization but a social and political movement with considerable support. Its ideology, however repugnant to Israel and the West, is shared by a considerable slice of the population in every Arab country from Morocco to Iraq. Because it is extremist, it thrives on war, the suffering it inflicts on Palestinians, and the anger generated by the endless, graphic and one-sided coverage of the Middle East's satellite television channels. Every day this war continues, Hamas grows politically stronger, as do its allies in other countries and its sponsor, Iran.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Israel was right to attack Gaza on the topic Gaza War.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Hard_Lesson_for_Israel&oldid=9851"

This page was last edited on July 14, 2009, at 17:42.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.