

High Court opens door for wealthy interest groups

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) USA Today editorial board

Source USA Today

Date June 26, 2007

URL <http://blogs.usatoday.com/oped/2007/06/our-view-on-bou.html>

Quote

“ “Rather than try to plug the leaks in McCain-Feingold, Congress would be wise to consider a different approach, one that has withstood court challenges and is taking hold in seven states and two cities: voluntary public financing of campaigns. Candidates get public money to wage campaigns in exchange for agreeing not to accept large donations from special interests.” ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item takes a mixed stance on the position Supreme Court was right to strike down "Wellstone Amendment" on the topic Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=High_Court_opens_door_for_wealthy_interest_groups&oldid=6055"

This page was last edited on June 26, 2007, at 19:25.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.