

It is time to protect the public's human rights

---

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Daily Telegraph editorial board

Source The Daily Telegraph

Date November 5, 2006

URL <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/opinion/main.jhtml?xml=/opinion/2006/05/11/dl1101.xml>

Quote

“ The United States Supreme Court frequently rules on the legality of the administration's measures. But the difference is that the US has a defined constitution, framed at the birth of the republic, which reflects the country's own political mores and is straightforward in its application. The ECHR, by contrast, is an alien import, articulating a series of airy and contradictory principles which leave judges almost total scope for interpretation.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should be repealed on the topic Human Rights Act 1998.

---

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=It\_is\_time\_to\_protect\_the\_public%27s\_human\_rights&oldid=3976"

---

This page was last edited on November 28, 2006, at 16:49.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.