

Losing sleep over Iraq

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) San Francisco Chronicle editorial board

Source San Francisco Chronicle

Date July 18, 2007

URL <http://www.sfgate.com/cgi-bin/article.cgi?f=/c/a/2007/07/18/EDGNNQ505K1.DTL>

Quote

“ Also Tuesday, the Washington Post reported that "war games" conducted for the U.S. military concluded that a withdrawal of American forces would not be "apocalyptic," according to the retired Marine colonel who oversaw them. The war games certainly painted a grim portrait of post-withdrawal Iraq -- which would effectively be split into three countries -- but far less dire than forecast by President Bush and his inner circle.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Losing_sleep_over_Iraq&oldid=6304"

This page was last edited on July 18, 2007, at 12:20.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.