Meeting the Iranian Challenge

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	Joe Biden
Source	The Huffington Post
Date	December 6, 2007
URL	http://www.huffingtonpost.com/joe-biden/meeting-the-iranian-chall_b_75628.html
Quote	"Don't be fooled by talk of a "surgical" strike on Iran's nuclear facilities. It would probably require thousands of sorties by our air force, over two to three weeks. It would mean bombing Iran's radar sites and air force, repeatedly striking multiple targets across the country, securing the Straits of Hormuz and oil facilities throughout the Persian Gulf, and preparing for attacks against our troops, citizens, allies, and interests across the region and beyond."	,,

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States should attack Iran on the topic Iranian nuclear crisis.

This item argues for the position Iranian regime overthrow should be encouraged on the topic Iranian nuclear crisis.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Meeting_the_Iranian_Challenge&oldid=6981"

This page was last edited on December 10, 2007, at 03:48.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.