New health care law helping middleclass families

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Donna Shalala

Source Milwaukee Journal Sentinel

Date March 19, 2011

URL http://www.jsonline.com/news/opinion/118272004.html

Quote

But for those who dislike the requirement, here's a question: Do our emergency rooms have the right to turn away people who show up with no or lousy insurance? Of course not. Yet those of us who have good insurance are paying for millions of people, many of them hardworking parents struggling to put food on the table, who visit our hospitals, clinics and doctors' offices without adequate coverage.

"

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=New health care law helping middle-class families&oldid=14182"

This page was last edited on March 20, 2011, at 18:55.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.