Obamacare: The Rest of the Story

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Bill Keller

Source The New York Times

Date October 14, 2013

URL http://www.nytimes.com/2013/10/14/opinion/keller-obamacare-the-rest-of-the-story.html

Quote

innovative medical practices, called accountable care organizations, have sprung up across the country, with 150 more in the works. At these centers, Medicare or private insurers reward doctors financially when their patients require fewer hospital stays, emergency room visits and surgeries — exactly the opposite of what doctors have traditionally been paid to do. The more money the organization saves, the more money its participating providers share. And the best way to save costs (which is, happily, also the best way to keep patients alive) is to catch problems before they explode into emergencies.

"

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Obamacare:_The_Rest_of_the_Story&oldid=16927"

This page was last edited on October 14, 2013, at 12:27.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.