

On Health Care, Justice Will Prevail

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Laurence Tribe

Source The New York Times

Date February 8, 2011

URL <http://www.nytimes.com/2011/02/08/opinion/08tribe.html>

Quote

“ Since the New Deal, the court has consistently held that Congress has broad constitutional power to regulate interstate commerce. This includes authority over not just goods moving across state lines, but also the economic choices of individuals within states that have significant effects on interstate markets. By that standard, this law’s constitutionality is open and shut. Does anyone doubt that the multitrillion-dollar health insurance industry is an interstate market that Congress has the power to regulate? ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=On_Health_Care,_Justice_Will_Prevail&oldid=13913"

This page was last edited on February 8, 2011, at 19:00.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.