

Paying attention, Supreme Court? Then leave Obamacare alone

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Star-Ledger editorial board

Source The Star-Ledger

Date March 4, 2015

URL http://www.nj.com/opinion/index.ssf/2015/03/post_118.html

Quote

“ But it may help the court to remember that five years after its rollout, the ACA marks this immutable truth: Those who opposed it were not only wrong, they were spectacularly wrong. They said it would explode the deficit. Actually, the deficit has fallen, even as the ACA was implemented. They said prices would skyrocket. Actually, premiums came in 18-percent lower than original forecasts. Before Obamacare, 10-percent annual increases were the norm in the individual market. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Paying_attention,_Supreme_Court%3F_Then_leave_Obamacare_alone&oldid=27948"

This page was last edited on March 27, 2015, at 20:54.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.