Presidential ingratitude

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	The Boston Globe editorial board
Source	The Boston Globe
Date	December 9, 2006
URL	http://www.boston.com/news/globe/editorial_opinion/editorials/articles/2006/12/09/presidential_ingrations/articles/2006/12/09/presidential_ingrati	tude/
Quote	"The members of the Iraq Study Group may not have come up with all the right answers; in their pursuit of unanimity, they may have settled for split-the-difference compromises where only one straight path makes sense. But in their bipartisan spirit of cooperation, they gave Americans a much-needed reminder of how statecraft once was conducted and how it ought to be conducted once again."	,, Add or change this opinion item's references

This item takes a mixed stance on the position Iraq Study Group's recommendations should be followed on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Presidential_ingratitude&oldid=4090"

This page was last edited on December 10, 2006, at 14:56.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.