

Protection Racket

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Pete du Pont

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date November 22, 2006

URL <http://www.opinionjournal.com/editorial/feature.html?id=110009269>

Quote

“ In short, trade helps people while protectionism hurts them. Imports give people a wider choice of goods, often at lower prices; protectionism helps local industries--steel companies in the Bush protectionism case--maintain higher prices at the expense of broad social and economic prosperity.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Colombia-United States Free Trade Agreement.

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Peru-United States Free Trade Agreement.

This item refers to the previous opinion item Democrats and Trade.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Protection_Racket&oldid=4686"

This page was last edited on March 11, 2007, at 10:51.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.