Reject Obama's request to attack Syria

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	The Denver Post editorial board
Source	The Denver Post
Date	September 6, 2013
URL	http://www.denverpost.com/politics/ci_24026572/reject-obamas-request-attack-syria
Quote	66 During the pressure of the 2012 campaign, Obama made rash and amateurish statements about those weapons being a "red line" for the U.S., but Congress is not obliged to bail him out. Nor must Congress pretend that gassing civilians, as horrifying as that is, is any more despicable than bombing them by the thousands or crushing them with tanks.

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States should intervene on the topic Syrian civil war.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Reject_Obama%27s_request_to_attack_Syria&oldid=16876"

This page was last edited on September 8, 2013, at 16:30.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.