

Second-Term Nightmare

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Pete du Pont

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date July 27, 2013

URL <http://online.wsj.com/article/SB10001424127887324564704578630432525651780.html>

Quote

“ Add sticker shock to the Democrats' concerns, with recent news of large ObamaCare-driven premium increases in the individual market (for policyholders who do not get coverage through an employer). We were promised that if we liked our current insurance plan, we could keep it. States like Indiana (projected premium increase of 76%), Ohio (88%) and others confirm what many already knew—we cannot keep our current plan if it does not meet what the administration considers "acceptable," and moving to one that meets the ObamaCare requirements can be quite expensive. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Second-Term_Nightmare&oldid=16637"

This page was last edited on July 29, 2013, at 13:41.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.