

The Not-So-Great Wall

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Duncan Currie

Source The Weekly Standard

Date May 24, 2006

URL <http://www.cbsnews.com/stories/2006/05/24/opinion/main1650558.shtml>

Quote

“That said, is massive border fencing in America's interest? Would it succeed in quelling illegal immigration? How would it affect the estimated 10-12 million illegal aliens already here? Would it help us conclusively resolve the fight over "amnesty"? We've yet to see a substantive discussion of these questions, so charged have been the verbal histrionics on both sides.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item takes a mixed stance on the position United States should build a fence along Mexican border on the topic Illegal immigration to the United States.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The_Not-So-Great_Wall&oldid=3055"

This page was last edited on September 14, 2006, at 23:39.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.