

The curtain is closing

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Victor Davis Hanson

Source Chicago Tribune

Date December 29, 2006

URL http://www.realclearpolitics.com/articles/2006/12/irans_ahmadinejad_far_weaker_t.html

Quote

“ So, as Iranians worry that their nation is becoming an international pariah and perhaps heading down the path of bankruptcy in the process, now is not the time for America to give in by offering direct talks with Ahmadinejad. That propaganda victory would only help him reclaim the legitimacy and stature that he is losing with his own people at home.” ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States should negotiate with Iran on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

This item argues against the position United States should negotiate with Iran on the topic Iranian nuclear crisis.

This item argues for the position Economic sanctions should be imposed on Iran on the topic Iranian nuclear crisis.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The_curtain_is_closing&oldid=5937"

This page was last edited on June 13, 2007, at 20:37.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.