

Trump's Paris climate accord withdrawal worst decision of his life

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The San Diego Union-Tribune editorial board

Source The San Diego Union-Tribune

Date June 1, 2017

URL <http://www.sandiegouniontribune.com/opinion/editorials/sd-trump-paris-climate-accord-20170601-story.html>

Quote

“ America first? The natural gas, wind and solar industries in the U.S. already employ more than five times as many American workers as the coal industry, which has been in serious decline for decades. It's bad enough that Trump's decision may lead other countries to drop out of the accord, but it's worse that it will jeopardize America's standing in the world as well as its position in the global economy. Now it appears China, which has committed to lessening its reliance on coal, will be revered globally as a climate-action leader. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States was right to withdraw on the topic United States withdrawal from the Paris Agreement.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Trump%27s_Paris_climate_accord_withdrawal_worst_decision_of_his_life&oldid=29131"

This page was last edited on June 7, 2017, at 18:40.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.